

THE BEAUTY OF AMERICA'S GREAT SOUTHWEST

American Heirloom's Southwestern Rug Collection

- Easy to make with punch needle
- No frame needed
- Create your own heirlooms

Although the Navajo Indians are now known mainly for their magnificent rugs, they first wove blankets for their own use. With the expansion of trading, these weavings evolved into the flat-woven rugs we know today.

American Heirloom's Southwestern Rug Collection features exciting adaptations of these authentic Navajo designs. The Sierra Reflections, designed by Pat Chisholm, was influenced by an antique Bayetta Chieftans blanket. Henry Oosterman created our Colorado Sunrise especially for his wife.

Rug designs and wool yarn available through American Heirloom.

SW334 Colorado Sunrise (3' x 5')
Natural, dark brown, dark green, steel, red, rust, plum, sand, red rose, old rose, dull rose, pink

SW323 Desert Flower (2' x 3')
Natural, dull rose, dark brown, sand beige, pink

SW335 Sequoia (3' x 5')
Natural, ivory, sand, black, rust

SW322 Sierra Reflections (2' x 2-1/2')
Champagne, dull rose, pink, turquoise, light blue, spruce

77 Brow Avenue
Braintree, MA 02184
(617) 843-1816